

Next level for Quality Policy

Turbotec is one of the first companies to have obtained the ISO 9001-2008 level of certification.

The International Organization for Standardization is widely recognized as the world's largest developer of standards. The ISO-9001-2008 level certifies that a specific course of business procedures are in force to ensure a continuous quality improvement program. This is conducted by implementing established record keeping systems, planning guides, frequent auditing and evaluation for conformance and effectiveness.

This level of certification differs from our previous level in its 1. ease of use, 2. clearer language, 3. translation friendliness, and 4. better compatibility with the environmental management standard ISO 14001:2004.
